

DENVER & THE WEST

THE DENVER POST | DENVERPOST.COM

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 2007

★★ SECTION B

Five months before she was killed by a gunman in September at Bailey's Platte Canyon High School, Emily Keyes, left, signed up to be an organ donor. The aftermath of that act of kindness was presented Wednesday in Denver as Julius Britto, 63, of Wilmington, N.C., talked about how receiving one of Emily's corneas changed his life. He spoke alongside Emily's father, John Michael Keyes.

DENVER POST PHOTO BY JOHN LEYBA

PUSHKIN

PUBLIC RELATIONS

CLIENT: Donor Awareness Council